Twenty-Four O'Clock.

Washington Special.

The proposed adoption of twenty-four hour days as a reform in the method of time-keeping makes the views of scientists and jewelers of interest. Professor Cleveland Abbe is quoted in the Star this evening as follows:

"The necessity for this change arises from the very appreciable (and vantage attending the present division into twelve-hour sections. The first of these advantages is obviously the necessity of using always in speech the word 'forenoon' or 'afternoon'.

In order to identify the portion of the day to which the hour mentioned is to be referred. Then, in writing to a place, after the number of the hour, the explanatory suffix a. m. or p. m.

Aside from these circumstances is the difficulty of publishing a newspaper on a railroad time table, the afternoon and forenoon times. The change is a good one, and is the consummation of the policy of introducing uniformity into all matters of international importance. In Italy the twenty-four method prevails, and has been in use for a great many years. They begin at sunrise, and count from one up to twenty-four hours. In astronomical work this division of time is observed.

On the other hand the Chinese divide the whole day into twelve parts, each equal to two hours of our time.
I see," continued the professor, "that the southern railroads have already adopted this plan. I don't think that there is any particular effort being made about this one thing. It simply implies one of the several reforms which have been set on foot to secure uniformity in time. The plan is not a new one, but it was thought best to accomplish the acceptance of a plan of uniform time in this country before urging other details tending to this result. The uniform time has now been adopted universally throughout this country, and it will be found, I think, of great convenience to the people. To show how the system of uniformity reaches out towards perfection," continued the professor, "it is urged that the earth be divided into twenty-four time belts.
Some also desire to make the division of time to correspond with the natural system, which would divide the day into ten hours, and the hour into one hundred minutes and the minutes into one hundred seconds, and so adjust the standard section that a hundred thousand seconds would be equivalent to our twenty-four hours."

The jewelers do not generally look with favor upon the proposition to do away with the present twelve hour division of time and adopt the twenty-four hour system.

WATER WORKS.
(Communicated.)

It seems incredible that any citizen of Hopkinsville can for a moment hesitate as to the acceptance of the proposition to build water works, who remembers the calamitous fire of Oct. 25, 1882, and when he recalls the hour of terror and despair of a week or two ago, when the fate of the town hung trembling in the direction that the wind should blow.
It is suggested that water works alone will not quench a fire, and that fire engines and a fire department will also be needed. This has never been denied for a moment, but the fact is almost always neglected, that the former, a hundred engines and a regiment of firemen could do no good in quenching a fire if there was no water convenient. Both are necessary, and one is comparatively useless without the other. It is suggested that any man with a spark of public spirit should hesitate for a moment to vote for what he knows will contribute so greatly to the general good.
We are assured it will not be necessary to increase the ratio of taxation above 1 per cent to enable us to pay for the water works and even if it were necessary, the increase would be so slight as to be scarcely appreciable.
When we remember how much it would add to our comfort in the sense of security from fire, the reduction in insurance, (enough almost if not quite to pay the $3,000) the advantages of a plentiful supply of water for sprinkling the streets and flushing gutters, thereby adding so much to the cleanliness and healthfulness of the town, we should stop only to ask ourselves if we are able to pay for this great necessity, comfort and convenience.
The question of ability is settled in advance by the assurance that we can pay for it without additional taxation. Let us have water works by all means. They will be the means of calling into operation a hundred small factories and industries which are now unthought of. In less than a year after they are built, the old fogies and croakers who now oppose them will be loudest in their praises.
As they now oppose the water-works

For

Young man, if you want to rise in the world, squeeze a lemon and suck.

Maj. Mat. McKinney's new paper at Cadiz will be called "The Old Guard." It will appear Jan. 1.

The Bowling Green Summer-Weekly Gazette froze out during the late cold spell and is now issued once a week.

Four of the planets—Jupiter, Saturn, Venus and Mars—are now visible in the east and southeast, between 20 and 22:30 o'clock every evening.

Sajourner Truth, the notorious colored female lecturer died at Little Creek, Mich., Nov. 26, aged 108 years.

There are nine negroes in the Virginia Legislature. It will be a cold day when Kentucky Republicans elect a colored brother to the Legislature.

The Supreme Court of Georgia has decided that cotton future notes are absolutely void. This is rough on the speculators who delight in "bucking the tiger."

O. O. Stanley proved himself a better and more reliable correspondent in the speakership race than he did in the Indiana campaign in 1880. The boys needn't be so backward about betting on his figures hereafter.

There is an effort being made to have the next Republican national convention meet in Indianapolis. Louisville has been suggested as a suitable place to hold the Democratic convention.

John Gaines is giving the readers of the Bowling Green Times editorial instructions on the subject of milking. Time wasted, John. That's about the first thing most people learn how to do.

A biographical child was born in Madison, Ga., last week. The season of the year is approaching when it is nothing unusual for belated citizens to have an extra head put on them, but it is seldom that a person is born with two.

Chief Justice Hargis is reported as having repeatedly interrupted and finally insulted Mr. Jho. B. Baskin, a young Louisville lawyer who was arguing a case in the Court of Appeals. Baskin abruptly ended his speech and left the court-room.

Editor Brown, of the Franklin Favorite, will take a furlough Jan. 1, to assist him in his labors. Those bibulous members of the press who are licking their crops and turning green with envy are informed that said assistant to Mr. T. M. Hornate of the Kansas City Times, and not one of Tom Henry's kind.

Phil Thompson Jr. and Geo. Denney Jr. ought to be pitted against each other in the next race for Congress. Each has killed his man and maybe they would do their respective parties a service by killing each other.

Secretary of State McKenize recently made the discovery that the original "Resolutions of 1798" were not on file in the office at Frankfort. It was feared that they could not be produced, but they have since been found in a file of the Lexington Gazette, of date Nov. 14, 1798.

A Kentucky youth named Witt eloped to Indiana with a sixteen-year-old girl, but the fate father followed the couple and came upon them before the deliberate old justice had finished the marriage ceremony. The old gentleman took his half-Witt daughter back home.

When an enterprising Courier-Journal reporter gets short of news, he rushes off and interviews a "solled dove" and the next day something like the following head lines appear in the paper: "The old, old story. A Deceived Rural Lass sent among strangers by her Betrayer."

Kentucky has had four speakers. Henry Clay was speaker 10 years, Jno. White 2 years and Linn Boyd 4 years. Mr. Carlisle's term will make 13 years she has had the speakership—more than any other State. Virginia and Pennsylvania are next, with 13 and 11 years respectively.

A year and a half ago Tom Henry got on a rare and the Commercial gave him particular fits, while the Courier-Journal valiantly defended him. A few weeks ago the offense was repeated and the Courier-Journal is waging a vindictive and relentless warfare against him, while the Commercial is defending him with all its might. Both papers have the same editorial management they had last year. What a "Buttercupped" these two Metropolitan brethren?

TOM HENRY.

Again Before The Public—Drunk.

A few days ago a dispatch to the Courier Journal, from Frankfort laid bare some unpleasant facts in connection with Capt. Tom Henry, clerk of the Court of Appeals. It was charged that he had been on a regular spree for weeks and that he had paid a visit to Louisville and succeeded in palming the city, a bright vermilion hue. That he had returned to Frankfort, partially sobered up, and had made arrangements with his deputies to take charge of the office with all of its emoluments excepting $150 a month to be paid him for the remaining seven years of his term. It was further stated that after doing this Capt. Henry was sent to Morgan county to paint the mountains as red as he desired. This dispatch was evidently sent by an enemy of the Appellate Clerk's. A subsequent issue of the Courier Journal contained interviews with Capt. Henry and Capt. Sam M. Gaines and Thos. G. Poore, his deputies. They all emphatically denied any such arrangement and it was clearly shown that Henry had not been to the mountains but had sobered up and was at Mt. Sterling, looking after some of his property. The Commercial, defending Capt. Henry, stated that his spree in Louisville was simply a plain drunk and that he went to Frankfort intoxicated, but that he was at no time disordered. The Frankfort Yeoman, while not stating that the office had been let out on the terms above named, says in an editorial:

"The entire management and control of the office is in the hands of two deputies, Capt. Sam M. Gaines and Capt. Thos. G. Poore, each capable, sober and trustworthy. It has been understood at Frankfort for some time that Capt. Henry would assume no further personal control of the business of the office, the power to act in all matters having been delegated to these parties.

The liability of Capt. Henry to abstain from liquor, and the scandal which results from his drunkenness, has made this arrangement necessary. The courts would not have tolerated his presence, and he had the discretion to arrange for the performance of work by others. This we think he had a right to do, and if it satisfies the judges, who are most concerned, it ought to satisfy others.

Of the arrangement between the Clerk and his deputies we may say that it is such as can be lawfully and properly made."

The Courier Journal editorially calls upon Capt. Henry to resign, and says it is the duty of the Court of Appeals to remove him if he does not. In the same paper the following dispatch appears:

FRANKFORT, Nov. 27.—Capt. Tom Henry is in the city and is at work in his office. Quite a number of people were in attendance on the Court of Appeals this morning under the impression that the court would take action in the matter. They seemed disappointed when they realized that nothing would be done. Until the information is filed of course nothing will result from the publication.

The following is an extract from an interview with Capt. Henry, at Mt. Sterling:

"Do you suppose," said he, "that I am not entirely conversant with the law on the subject? I have read it forty times. No, sir; if I am absent from the Court of Appeals I leave my affairs in the hands of efficient and trustworthy deputies, with whom there can be no fault or cavil. Such being the case, my constant presence is not needed, and, sedentary habits not agreeing with my health, I concluded I would turn my attention to trading and more active pursuits, being mindful to be present in Frankfort enough to see that every detail of the office is carried out."

Hon. Wilson L. Weathers, Ex-State Senator from the district composed of Calloway, Trigg, Lyon, and Livingston, died at his home in Murray, last Friday, of Typhoid fever. He was elected to the Senate in the spring of 1882, to fill the unexpired term of Judge J. H. Wilkinson, deceased.

Col. Frank Woolford the old Union war horse, of the 11th Kentucky district, is referred to by a leading Washington paper as "an old Confederate who has never been reconstructed."

Four burglars cracked a safe at Shelby, O., but were pursued and two killed and the other two captured. They wounded two of their pursuers, one fatally.

Mrs. Langtry's pet poodle was stolen from her while in Louisville last week. It may be characterized as a dog-gone transaction.

Ex-Gov. McCreary has announced himself a candidate for the 49th Congress, in Phil Thompson's district.

The editor of the Wickliffe Plaindealer was called out to work the public road last week and he boasts that he did five dollars worth of work.

Tom Henry's Case.

From all the data in Capt. Henry's case, three facts may be deduced: Capt. Henry has been drunk as a "blasted owl," the office is in charge of his deputies to him, his deputies and the Court of Appeals and the business of the office was never conducted better. The scandal gives the "I told you so's" a chance to recall predictions made before Capt. Henry's election. His old enemies will, of course, clamor for his resignation, but if the arrangement is "lawful and proper" and the public interests are well cared for, the public need not be dissatisfied. If drunkenness is to be taken as a disqualification in office holders, where will the line be drawn? That's the question that arises. We do not champion Capt. Henry's cause, nor defend drunkenness, but prohibition is an outside matter that can never be an element in politics. The moment Capt. Henry's official duties are neglected, we say let him be fired out, but as long as these are well performed it would be no cause for removal if he were to make a bung-hole of his mouth and rent himself for a whisky barrel. Some politicians have more sense when they are drunk than at any other time, and when this is the case inebriety cannot be made a cause for removal. The good boys who are clamoring for Henry's impeachment or resignation, are not at all without sin themselves, if they will only consider their own cases. If the Courier-Journal and other papers are going to draw a prohibition deadline for office holders, will they please state where they propose to draw it? At one, two, or a dozen drinks? This persecution of Tom Henry is prompted by sinister motives on the part of the instigators. During the last session of the Legislature a member was taken home with the jim-jams and yet nobody called for his resignation. As long as Tom Henry's office is "conducted better than it has ever been before" there is no cause for removal unless, he should be found guilty of a criminal offense.

CARLISLE ELECTED SPEAKER.

20 Majority on the First Ballot Over Randall and Cox Combined.

OTHER NOMINATIONS.

The Democratic caucus in the hall of Representatives, Saturday night, resulted in the nomination of Hon. Jno. G. Carlisle, of Kentucky, Speaker of the 48th Congress, on the first ballot. The vote stood, Carlisle 104; Sam'l J. Randall, 52; Sam'l S. Cox, 32. One of Mr. Randall's friends moved to make the nomination unanimous which was done and Messrs. Randall, Cox and Curdin appointed to escort the nominee to the stand. In an appropriate speech Mr. Carlisle accepted the nomination and Messrs. Randall and Cox spoke briefly, acquiescing in the result and pledging their support to the nominee.

The caucus then completed its work by making the following nominations: Clerk, Jno. B. Clark, Jr. of Missouri; Sergeant-at-arms, Jno. Leonard, of Ohio; Doorkeeper, Jas. G. Winter-smith, of Texas; Postmaster, Lycurgus Dalton, of Indiana; Chaplain, Rev. J. S. Lindsay, D. D. of the District of Columbia.

Congress met yesterday and organized by the election of the nominees of the Democratic caucus. The Democrats have a majority of 64 in the House.

Maj. Crumbaugh Suspended.

The President has appointed Capt. Edward C. Farley, Collector of Internal Revenue in this, the second district, vice Maj. S. R. Crumbaugh, suspended. Capt. Farley is a Walter Evans stalwart and is a substantial citizen of Paducah, engaged in various manufacturing interests in that city. "He was for many years a United States Deputy Marshal, and gave good satisfaction in that position. He was the Republican nominee for State Treasurer at the last election. This is not a surprise to Maj. Crumbaugh, as he has known for some time that his removal had been decided upon by Evans and Arthur.

Prof. J. H. Tice, the well-known weather prophet of St. Louis, died last Friday. We still have Venuor left.

A runaway team threw three young girls over a bridge into the river at Dixon, Illa, Friday, and they were all drowned.

Tice got out his weather predictions for December before he died. Maybe that's what killed him.

O'Donnell the Irish Avenger was arraigned for trial at London Friday, and was sentenced to death Saturday.

Watty and Fannie Wallace—who are well known by theater-goers in this city—and their company of actors, were lost at sea last week, between Nassau and Key West, Florida.

The oil state statesman struck "the last week—Carlisle. As usual the "lie" rose to the top.

Carlisle's Victory.

The race for the Speakership, which resulted in the election of the Kentucky candidate, was one of the hottest and most exciting ever made. It was not a question of personal popularity to be decided, but great principles and momentous questions were involved. Carlisle's election is a triumph for the tariff reform Democrats. Only 52 votes were cast for the candidate of the protectionists—but little over one-fourth of the votes—which shows plainly enough that the Democratic party is a party of low tariff and against monopolies that enrich the few at the expense of the masses. Mr. Carlisle will be a worthy successor to Henry Clay and Linn Boyd.

Forty-two couples were married in Cincinnati on Thanksgiving Day. Legal holidays do not affect the validity of marriage contracts.

The Republican caucus nominated ex-Speaker Kiefer for the empty honor of speaker of the next House, by a vote of 41 to 13. All the other old officers were re-nominated.

Alfred Roberts, aged 53 years, killed himself at Flemingsburg because his evidence as a witness was impeached.

TUTT'S PILLS

TORPID BOWELS,
DISORDERED LIVER,
and MALARIA.

From these causes arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Loss of appetite, nervous debility, sick headache, constipation, biliousness, indigestion, flatu-lence, a feeling of fullness, or even to nausea, or a feeling of having neglected some duty. Disordered bowels, a weak heart, thus before the eyes, highly colored, a fine, COVETOUS, and demonstrative use of a remedy that acts on the liver. As a Liver medicine, TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the liver and bowels is prompt, regular, and all impurities through these organs are expelled. The system is purified, and appetite and digestion, regular motion, and vigorous body. TUTT'S PILLS cause no nausea or griping nor interfere

WHAT THE WORLD OWES PRINTERS.

Editor Seale, of the Atlanta (Ga.) Savvy South, pays this deserved tribute to the much-abused compositor:

To its writers the world does not stand as a debtor. It has given to them largely of what it had to bestow. True, it has allowed some whose words will be potential so long as truth can permeate the human intellect or eloquence touch the human heart, to live unencumbered and disregarded. But in the main it has awarded them no unjust share of false and fortune. To that class of toilers, however, without whose patience and skill the pen of the ready writer were but a slow means of communicating thought, it has been less liberal. A large array of men and boys and young women are now engaged with busy fingers and nerves under continued tension, in furnishing the reading public with the printed sheet. In the morning they begin their tasks with the early dawn; but the business man may have a fresh sheet when he gathers around his breakfast table. But when busy crowds have left the streets and reunited families are enjoying the comforts of home, the printer still toils by lamp-light that the morning paper be not wanting. These are not ill-paid as far as dollars and cents go.
The composing stick is a pretty sure, but not an easy means of winning one's bread. But they receive little of honor, considering how much they do for the pleasure of individuals and for the progress of society. When we feel the happiness of our lives enhanced by the pursuit of some charming work, we ofteningly gratify the genius that so fitly sets the thoughts to words that they elevate us with emotions of beauty.
But we scarcely think of the patient toil that is required to print those words that the reading of them would be a pleasure.
If the only way of learning an author's thoughts were by deciphering his cramped and crooked cursive, full of erasures and interlineations, few would be inclined to undertake the task. Yet the printer must do this. He must, too, bear the blame of the writer's bad spelling and bad grammar, though he is allowed to share none of his praise for sound logic or brilliant rhetoric. The world cannot honor his printers too much. Their composing sticks come nearer than anything else of being that lever of which the Syracusan dreamed.

A CITY VEGETABLE GARDEN.

Your back yard may be small; but if it has access to it you can raise your own summer vegetables there. If you don't try the following plan: Take barrels and boxes, and divide the middle, and one hole large enough to admit the nose of your water-pot. Fill the barrels with stones as high as the rows of holes, and fill in with good rich, fine earth to the top, in which plant cucumbers, melons, squashes, tomatoes, etc. One barrel will be enough for each kind. Be sure to have one flat stone laid over the large hole where you will pour in water until it runs out of the holes you have made, and which will prevent the earth from filling this large hole up. Range the barrels around your yard and plant your seeds. Keep the barrels filled with water up to the holes and you will have all the requisites for rapid, healthy growth—air, heat and moisture. Your vegetables will last until late in the autumn, as they can easily be covered on frosty nights. Cucumbers and tomatoes may hang over the barrels, cutting them off when they reach the bottom. Melons may be tied to the wall or fence. The stones have an important service in holding up the earth, and in absorbing the heat during the day, which they give out at night, keeping the water at an even temperature. You will be astonished at the result, if you have never tried it. Cucumbers can be very successfully grown in this manner.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands a little East India Mistery for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, asthma and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility, and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested it wonderful cures cures in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellow-men. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NORTON, 100 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y.

THE SPECIES TRAMP.

The Majority Point (Ill.) Republican has had a visit from the traveling jour, and talks thus about him: "By a seemingly intuitive knowledge, the newspaper man seldom fails to recognize a member of the craft at first sight. There is a peculiarity about him (especially the old-timer) that distinguishes him from the rest of mankind. The fact is, a majority of these traveling 'artists' are frauds, and experience teaches that it does not pay to harbor or encourage them. Naturally there is a feeling of sympathy for a fellow creature in distress or destitute circumstances, but discrimination is necessary, lest the illa and disrepute be encouraged. From the habit of these traveling 'knights of the stick and rule' it might be presumed that it is necessary for a printer, after he has spent ten or fifteen years at the trade, to start out upon a dead-beating tramp, ostensibly in search of work.
Such is not the case, however. In the days of thorough apprenticeship it was customary for printers to travel from office to office, as journeymen, in a laudable endeavor to render themselves as expert as possible. While there may be still a few worthy, honest men 'on the road,' yet the most of them are of the class who think 'the world owes me a living,' and I'll go forth and collect it.
But let our visitor tell his own story:
'Am a printer of eighteen years' experience, in search of work; came here from Decatur, where I had worked at $10 a week; wages were cut down to $3, and concluded to leave; spent my last cent for board and lodging last night; started for Evansville, Ind. Would like to set or throw in some type for you.' He was told that there was nothing in that line to do, but to help him along he might devote a few hours to a pleasant woodpile exercise," which important proposition was treated with dignified scorn, though a little money donation would have been acceptable.

THE REPUBLICAN SAYS: "Is it our duty to assist persons who refuse honest work because they have learned trades, or does it not tend to encourage them in their false ideas of the true nobility of all honest labor? It is not urged that it is wrong to aid those who are destitute, nor that it is right to turn the needy and truly deserving away empty.
It would even be better to give to many undeserving than that one deserving person suffer. Let doubts, as well as deeds, be always on the side of mercy. It is urged, however, that the practice of giving to persons who are unwilling to work tends to make begging respectable and to encourage dissolute, lazy men to travel about and impose upon the chari-tability of the community. All persons who refuse to work unless they can do something they consider 'gouged,' have a false idea of the grandeur of labor. The honest man, who will with hand or brain to earn his daily bread, and to make the world better and happier, is one of earth's noblemen, no difference how menial the service performed, so it is done well and faithfully—whether blackening boots, sawing wood, shoveling dirt or sweeping crossings. The souter the tobacco-chewing, whisky-drinking tribe of beggars known as 'tramp-printers' learn this fact the better it will be for the country."

A KENTUCKY LEGISLATOR proposes to provide every family in the State with a weekly newspaper, free of charge. "It should be," he says, "a newspaper giving to everything good for bringing the people to a realization of the progress of the age, and to the enjoyment of the amount of blessedness that results from knowledge. A wise and provident father looks well to the educational interests of his children; so should the State provide a first-class weekly newspaper for every family in the Commonwealth, and thus put the rich and poor on a parity. This enterprise, if faithfully carried out, will do more in reducing illiteracy from the State than any other one measure." His idea is to start a newspaper for this philanthropic purpose.

CHARITY IN THE DRAWING-ROOM.

They were discussing charity in the drawing-room, and one of the gentlemen was inveighing with some sarcasm against benevolent folk who make donations and have their names published in the papers. "Nearly all charitable acts," he said, eloquently, "have pride vanity as their motive. For my part I hate ostentation. I remember once when I was traveling through a section of the country where I was not known, I came upon a lonely little way-station where, in the waiting-room, there was fastened to the wall a contribution-box for the benefit of the sufferers through the recent inundations. There was not a soul there—not a person in the neighborhood knew of my presence or was so acquainted with my name, and I went and dropped a guinea in the box and slipped away unseen, unknown. Now, sir, what I contend is that my secret offering was a more meritorious one than if it had been made on a public subscription list, with loud flourish of trumpets."
"You are quite right," says one of the lady-larks. "That was genuine, modest charity, and I don't wonder that you brag of it."

THE GRANDEST EVIL.

The Persian author Saadi tells a story of three sages—a Greek, an Indian and a Persian—who, in the presence of the Persian monarch, debated this question: Of the evils incident to humanity, which is the greatest? The Grecian declared, "Old age oppressed with poverty;" the Indian answered, "Pain with impotence;" while the Persian, bowing low, answered, "The greatest evil, O king, that I can conceive is the couch of death without one good deed of life to light the darkness way!"

A TRIUMPH OF SCIENCE.

I take about half a pint of rectified spirit and mix with it a few drops of coloring solution and concentrated essence of brandy, that is the brandy flavor prepared by the druggist, and by brisk agitation the mixture acquires the appearance of cognac. You like a little beard? Very well; I add a little out of this vial, a preparation of nitro-benzoin, or artificial oil of bitter almonds. Now, as I pour it out the bubbles remain for some time at the top. However, it does not taste ripe or full-bodied yet, so I add a few drops of a preparation principally composed of glycerine and called by the trade "age and body." Another good shako, and all I need is a label certififying that the article is "10-year-old cognac brandy," and there you have my brandy ready for the market. Of course the experiment has been a very hasty one. I simply intended to show you the principle. In practice about half a pound of each of the substances I have just made use of would be added to forty gallons of rectified spirit, and a very respectable and by no means injurious brandy is the result. In brief, the imitation of spirituous liquors, in a few hours by chemical progress of science, result to that attained by nature in the course of months, or even years, has every claim to be regarded as a triumph of science.—Dr. Leffman, in Philadelphia Times.
